

The Venetian Collection

This series was a long time in the planning. JB loves Venice immensely and particularly wanted to do her subject justice. It took many visits to this city of love before she felt adequately imbued with the Venetian sensibility and spirit to properly transmute these qualities onto the canvas. These paintings have become her most popular limited edition prints and have been auctioned off on the Princess Cruise ships for the last ten years. They are painstaking to produce and there are very few originals available at any given time.

Going Home

*A lone gondolier
Plies his way back home
After a long day of serenading others
As they huddle and cuddle
And kiss one another.*

*He wonders what his own love is doing.
Will she have super waiting?
Will she be happy to see him?*

*Whatever she has in store
He is sure to have
One last melodious tune
That is meant for only her.*
